ity. Chamberlain Keenan, to prevent them, from paying city bills alleged to be excessive.

Justice Mearns, of the Supreme Court, granted the writ upon the application of Mr. R. H. Burns, during 1902 and a part of 1904, various gas companies furnished the city with light without a contract. Their bills aggregate $5,000,000 for that time and Mr. Hearst maintains this is a gross overcharge and the following charges. Arguments to make the injunction permanent will be heard next Friday.

To String Wire Fencing.

This is a good time to put in new wire fencing or to repair the old one. Many farmers have difficulty in stringing wire because they have no suitable appliances. Dakota now gives the following suggestions. Take three pieces of scarning, seven by six, from six to seven feet long. Lay them on the ground and stretch them out for several rods at once. About four inches from the ends of these scarnings bore a hole large enough for a one-inch rod to reach red to through. Lay the pieces togetherwise and side by side, and have them

W. L. Dorsett.

(Special To The Times-Dispatch.)

SPENCER, N. C., December 8.—Mr. William L. Dorsett, one of the most prominent and highly esteemed citizens of the place, died last night after a lingering illness of several weeks from typhoid fever, aged twenty-six years. The deceased was accompanied by his parents, brothers and a number of friends of the place, were carried to Silver City, Chatham county, for interment to-day, this being the old home of the family as where the parents yet reside.

Mr. Dorsett formerly resided in Raleigh, where he was engaged in the hotel business, having been connected with the Yarbrough House and later with H. Dorsett. While a resident of Raleigh Mr. Dorsett was married to Miss Alice E. Ellis.

Two months ago he accepted a traveling position with the Etchison Hat Company, Richmond, Va. Soon after starting on his first trip he was brought home from Georgia very ill and never recovered.

Small Farms Pay Best.

It is a waste of time and labor to cultivate two acres if a larger crop can be secured, proportionately, on one. One acre may not support a farmer, but it will enable him to cultivate larger acres. He could not cultivate 50 acres if he can secure better results from 25. It will pay him to realize 75 bushels of corn, or 25 bushels of wheat, or 10 bushels of oats, while he may lose money if he secures 50 bushels of corn, or 25 bushels of wheat, or 20 acres from 50 acres. It is not the great amount of produce he receives that pays, but the time it requires more time to produce a given amount of manure over two acres than upon one, and, so far as cultivation is concerned, the cost is about the same. Now all this extra work may be thrown away if the farmer can, by assigning the area, devote more time and attention to a small space. There will be less hurry, more thorough cultivation, greater facility in harvesting, fewer laborers and better condition of the working stock. It is in the correct application of labor that the profits are derived.
